Luna Morgenstern is 'the kind of talent that can captivate with a single syllable' (Wonderland Magazine). Based between Berlin and Amsterdam, songwriter and producer Luna fuses alt-pop heartbreak with late '90s rave and '00s club influences, taking cues on her production from artists including Imogen Heap, Caroline Polachek, Taichu and ML Buch.

Luna's 2023 EP 'Dance Dance (Don't Go)' is an intoxicating project which received praise and support from the likes of The Face, The Independent and Dork Magazine; as well as leading to her debut headline tour dates. Luna returns in 2024 with her follow-up body of work: 'heartbreak hotel'. The juxtaposition of a heavily club inspired sound with Luna's biographical, often raw and revealing lyrics are at the core of her new EP. Documenting an unraveling of a long-term relationship, each song opens the door to another room within the metaphorical 'heartbreak hotel', reflecting on the intricate emotional stages of two people parting ways.

Luna Morgenstern's new EP 'heartbreak hotel' is out 17th January. She tours Europe extensively this autumn supporting MEROL and Say Yes Dog, before embarking on her own headline tour in March 2025.
