Three for Silver

Indie-Folk aus den USA

Three For Silver is the primary musical project of singer, songwriter, and multi-instrumentalist Lucas Warford, “the acid baby of Tom Waits and Les Claypool,” as NW legend Baby Gramps once called him.

They're an aggressively original band that is impervious to easy description.

If asked what they sounds like, the most accurate answer would be, "They sound like Three For Silver."

Three For Silver features one-of-a-kind instruments you've never seen playing styles mixed in ways you've never heard. The band has hit the road since 2013, and their monomaniacal devotion has led them all over the world.
