Bars and Melody are a British rap duo formed in 2014. Rapper Leondre Devries and singer Charlie Lenehan took the world by storm when their debut single "Hopeful" entered the UK charts at number 4. Fast forward 7 years, several world tours and platinum records later, Bars and Melody are taking it to another level.

For the first time in their career, the group are taking complete creative control, making music with the sole intention of showing what they are truly all about. This is a new wave era for Bars and Melody, giving us a deeper insight into who they really are.

BAM's sound is a combination of pop, trap & drill, reminiscent of the likes of D-Block Europe, AJ Tracey, Steel Banglez, Yung Thug and Travis Scott. Fresh off their 2021 U.K. tour, their first NFT drop and launch of their own podcast. They duo about to start releasing a whole new collection of music throughout 2022, whilst before embarking on the European leg of the 'Stay Frosty' tour and unveiling a multitude of new industry pushing projects, both in the digital space and real world.

Their latest single Pneumonia builds on their move into drill & trap aesthetics, but combining it with the large pop sound that has defined the groups career. Creating a truly unique piece with huge melodic hooks, danceable beats and grooving bass-lines.

With a dedicated global fanbase in the millions, millions of streams across platforms, industry support and time on their side. Bars & Melody are quite simply a force to be reckoned with.
