

Lost Romantic, made up of Freddie Long and Kieran Leigh, burst onto the scene in 2023 with the launch of their debut album, LOVEXHATE. In just over a year, the dynamic duo has been hailed as 'Future Icons', earning radio support from BBC Radio One and BBC Introducing, alongside a rapidly expanding fanbase who passionately sing along to every word at their packed-out shows.

LOVEXHATE has amassed over 1,500,000 streams organically. Mixed by George Perks (Enter Shikari, You Me at Six), the album marks just the beginning of the duo's musical journey. Drawing inspiration from their individual influences, they blend and collaborate across genres, promising an exciting future.

In addition to their musical success, Lost Romantic has secured partnerships with Fender, Converse, Natal Drums, and LEVIS.

The year 2024 holds promise as the duo gears up for new music releases while continuing to build their growing fanbase. They have a headline UK tour booked for November and a show scheduled at Lafayette in King's Cross, London, promising an unforgettable moment for the dynamic duo.

Catch the boys playing at The Great Escape on May 17th at the Marshall Stage, 19:30. They will also make their debut in Ireland this June at Sea Sessions.